ABSTRACT

A system and method for adjusting a subwoofer sonic output in response to known main speaker characteristics in order to produce a desirable blending of sound from the combined subwoofer-main speaker output.